New Set of Social Rules For President's Approval

Social Hours Riding Changed

At an open forum discussion among women students held in Phi Beta Kappa Hall Monday night, the following proposals were suggested and voted upon to present to President Bryan for his approval:

1. That open social hours begin at three o'clock instead of four for freshmen, due to the change in classes.
2. Riding—
 - a. That students should be able to sign out once for riding with their parents for the length of time their parents are here.
 - b. That the Judicial Council fix its own penalty regarding the riding rule not have the minimum penalty stated at a semester's campus).
3. Senior Privileges—
 - a. That seniors be allowed to date until twelve o'clock Saturdays regardless of whether they are going to the dance or not.
 - b. That seniors be permitted to have late permission until twelve o'clock one night a month (other than Saturdays).
4. Petitions—
 - a. That a petition could be drawn up concerning change in social rules and presented to Student Government.
 - b. That a forum be held to discuss the petition.

"Kind Lady" Rehearsals Continue

By Bara
"Kind Lady," the new vehicle for the William and Mary Players to be presented on November 30 and December 1, is an opus by Edward Chodorov from a tale by Hugh Walpole; and, it's an excellent sample of how much a capable playwright can do with a clever short-story situation. The cast, most of whom are doing their first long parts in the College Theatre is being ably directed by Miss Alliea Hunt, who in this play has chosen one of the most unusual pieces to be given since a very long time at the College of William and Mary.

The situation arises when a rich and retiring London lady, Miss Mary Herries (Peggy Gidner) befriends first a cultured vagrant, Henry Abbott (William Land), then his wife, who faints under very suspicious circumstances on the lady's doorstep, and finally becomes unwilling hostess to a whole gang of rascals who smoothly but implacably insinuate themselves into her home.

"Kind Lady" is a drama which definitely belongs to the goose-flesh group, with numerous scenes full of vigorous dramatic punches. One comes just after the rogues have settled themselves in the house and made its mistress a prisoner. A hungry-eyed urchin, Aggie (Virginia Boardman), prowls around stealing things; a gross woman, Mrs. Edwards (Edna White) tirelessly scolds her; a big, horrible man Mr. Edward (David Quinlan) plays a screechy, portable gramophone, while a dim-witted pseudo-invalid, Ada (Virginia Brenn) dances crazily in her nightgown. Most spectators' pulses will miss a beat when the broken lady smuggles a note to an art dealer (Walter Bara) who has come to take away the last of her pictures, only to see the art dealer turn it over to her captors under the impression that she is mad.

Bland Chief Speaker for Armistice

The Honorable S. Otis Bland, Representative in Congress of the first Virginia District, delivered the annual Armistice Day address at the Convocation in Phi Beta Kappa Hall Saturday, November 11, at 10:45 a. m. The speech was preceded by an impressive ceremony presented in the college yard immediately in front of the Wren Building by college students and members of Peninsula Post No. 39 of the American Legion.

At the call to attention by the buglers, a group of interested townspeople gathered with the college students in the college yard to hear the William and Mary Choir sing "God Save the King," "The Marseillaise," and "The Star Spangled Banner," which was followed by an excerpt from Pericles' "Funeral Oration" from Thucydides, read by John S. Hudson. Then B. D. Peachy called the roll of the men who died in service from the city of Williamsburg and vicinity and John H. Garrett, Jr., called the roll for the College of William and Mary. As the bells in the Wren Building tolled the hour of eleven, the report of the buglers sounding taps came from the old Capitol Building.

In Phi Beta Kappa Hall Maxine Hines and Ethel Butt played a piano duet for the advance of colors. Vernon L. Nunn, acting chaplain of the Peninsula Post, asked the American Legion prayer for Armistice Day, and the William and Mary Choir sang a Chorolet from Church Cantata No. 182 by J. S. Bach.

In the introductory remarks by Charles J. Duke, Jr., Assistant to the President of the College and Bursar, it was stressed that America should be very thankful for the blessing of peace, and that she should suffer any sacrifice save honor to maintain that peace. A fragment from the Memorial Music by Hindemith was played by Ellen Butt and Maxine Hines. First Vice Commander W. E. Hankins of Peninsula Post introduced the speaker, the Honorable S. Otis Bland, an alumnus of the College of William and Mary. Congressman Bland gave a vivid description of the first Armistice Day, Wilson's speeches to Congress, the hatreds surrounding the Treaty of Peace, and Wilson's ultimate death after the failure of the United States to enter the League of Nations.

"While war leads only to wilderness, America entered the last war for Democracy," he said. American prestige abroad was at its highest on that first Armistice Day. He stated that today's war might have been changed by the League of Nations and that some common forum was needed to settle disputes of nations. He also predicted the spread of democracy.

The exercises closed with the audience singing "America."

Spanish Club Installs New Officers

The Spanish Club met last Monday night in Barrett Hall at 8 P. M. and held the installation of new officers. Carlton Laing, new president asked for suggestions for a club song and motto. There being no further business, the meeting was turned over to Jayne Magee for the program of songs and games. Refreshments were served after which the meeting adjourned.

Homecoming Dance Tickets Now On Sale

Tickets for the Homecoming dances may be purchased from the President's Aides at the following prices: both nights, couples $2.50; stag, $1.75; Friday night, couples, $2.00, stag, $1.50; Saturday night, couples, $1.50, stag, $1.00. Besides from the President's Aides, tickets may also be obtained at the Information desk in Marshall-Wythe, at the headwaiter's tables in the dining hall and at the door of the Gym.

The music for both nights will be supplied by Burt Repine, more popularly known as the Dominoes and who broadcast twice weekly at 6:15 P. M. over station WRVA, Richmond. Only Friday night's dance is strictly formal.

Psychological Research Begins

Under the supervision of Dr. R. H. Henneman, four senior psychology students, Emily Edgerton, Frank Damrosch, Peggy Duryea, and Mariam Mollen are conducting experimental projects in psychological research.

Miss Edgerton and Mr. Damrosch are studying individual differences in learning ability using subjects from other psychology courses and any students interested in the experiment. The results of these experiments should prove invaluable to all students in that they will serve to determine an answer to the question of whether the learning process is essentially the same for all types of situations, or whether learning is specific or each different kind of material attacked. Whether the same method is as good for Biology 100 as it is for Philosophy, whether cramming is good or detrimental, and how "general intelligence" is determined are all questions which are pertinent to the study.

Miss Duryea and Miss Mollen are conducting a test in the grade schools which has as its purpose the application of one of three psychological tests, and a clarification of their content. Several leading psychologists were consulted before final plans for this research were worked out, and the results should prove very interesting.

"The Royalist" Given First VIPA Rating

Receives Honors Two Times In As Many Years

The Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association held its annual conference in Washington last Friday and Saturday. They purpose of the convention was to hold lectures, round table discussions and formal meetings to inform editors of the new advances made towards the improvements in collegiate publications. The conference also judged the submitted publications to determine which was the best. The Royalist of William and Mary took first prize among Virginia College magazines. This is the second year in succession that the Royalist has won first prize.

The program of events took place at American University and the convention headquarters were at the Burlington Hotel. There were many outstanding journalists of the time present to lecture, one of the most notable being Drew Pearson.

William and Mary publications were represented by Robert Stainton, Merritt Foster, David Forer, David Quinlan, and Stanley Ebb.

"Who's Who" Includes 18 On Campus

Eighteen students have been notified of their nomination for membership in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities," annual classification made by officers of the administration on the basis of "leadership in extra-curricular activities, scholarship, character, and potentialities for future usefulness in business and society." The eight women students nominated are: Anne Cross, Virginia Brehm, Rosa Ellis, Betty Moore, Jean Claraham, Frances Wagener, Gardina Matejka, and Betty Knoll. Eight men nominated this year in addition to John Dillard and Lloyd Phillips (who were nominated last year) are: Saunders Almond, Mec Douglas, Jack Garrett, Leon Haden, Charles Gondak, Jack Hudson, Elmo Legg, and Henry Whitehouse.

The list of members from other colleges and universities is compiled in a large volume and published at the first of the year to be used by business concerns in selecting students for positions.

Formal, Informal Dances Football Game and Parade Will Figure in Activities

Alumni Radio Program Today

In collaboration with the Alumni Association, the Radio Broadcasting Class presented a resume of the Alumni Day Program for any of the old grads who were listening in. The program this afternoon took the form of a preview of the Alumni programs scheduled for this Saturday and Sunday.

In the course of the program various alumni and college officials spoke on different phases of the program. Mr. Channing Hall gave a brief address of welcome in behalf of the college board of visitors. Y. O. Kent, the college Steward told the alumni what they could expect in the way of food and entertainment at the picnic shelter on Lake Matoaka. In an interview, Charles P. McCurdy, the alumni secretary, gave a full report of the plans for the week and urged the attendance of all alumni in the vicinity.

The program was interspersed with various recordings of band music and cheering that should have brought back memories of college days to all the old grads. If any students were listening in they got a good idea of what their cheering sounded like for that used on the program was a recording of some of the cheers of the student body at the last rally.

The program was one of the regular "This Is William and Mary" series. Thomas Forsythe acted as announcer and as interviewer on the program. The next radio presentation will be one of the alternate programs presented every other Tuesday.

Sorority Sing Winners To Broadcast

The winners of the Sorority Sing which will be given next Monday will be featured in the college broadcast the following Tuesday.

The Psychology Club will meet in Barrett Hall at 7:00 P. M. on Wednesday. Dr. Kreegan of Duke University will speak on mental telepathy.

The Men's Glee Club meets every Thursday evening at 7:00 P. M. in the Methodist Church Annex. All men interested in singing are urged to participate.

Freshmen Homecoming Instructions

All Freshmen (except those participating in the Intramural Hockey Tournament) are to report to the stadium at 3:00 Wednesday afternoon to practice the card-figure for W-M Homecoming Day football game.

All Freshmen are to gather behind Rogers Hall at 2:00 Saturday in order to file into the stadium in a single body. The freshmen will follow the band and it is emphasized that those not attending with the group will not be admitted. Tickets will be collected.

Freshmen will listen for dining hall announcements for time and place of wood-gathering for the bonfire rally Thursday night.

First Tryouts Are Held for Varsity Show

There was a meeting in Phi Beta Kappa Hall last Wednesday night at which the casting committee for the Varsity Show looked over this year's talent. All the campus imitators, acrobats, dancers, and crooners were on hand to go through their acts.

Phyllis Cady gave an imitation of a Freshman and one of Mr. Hoening. Betty Boop was imitated by Marx Figley, who also did an impromptu of a Freshman. Of the girls who sang Ginny Boardman, Nancy Cuptill, and Mary York received the most applause from the audience. Lucille Reynolds did a Mildred Bailey "blues" number.

The masculine talent fell to the campus quartet of Della Torre Lenzi, Palumbo, and Dennis. Bernie Russell repeated a number he sang in the first varsity show. Most of the other men were so frightened that the audience could not hear them. Maybe they'll get another chance.

After much coaxing, Cecil Brown was dragged onto the floor to do a jitterbug dance. He is the Richmond champ and we give Lillian Waymack full credit for being able to follow him without rehearsal. The Shelley sisters tap danced and Betty Craxton did a swing number.

Helen Black proved herself to be a good acrobatic dancer by almost throwing herself into the audience. Too bad Hanya Holm didn't see her. Virginia Doepke played one of her own compositions on the piano and a trio consisting of Ginny Boardman, Kay Cotterman and Elsie Vresland sang it in perfect harmony. All in all, 59 people were cheered and booed, but Ginny Smith's hula dance brought down the house.

Robert Douglas Will Conduct Chapel Wed.

Chapel will be held on Wednesday, November 15th at 6:45 P. M. in the Wren Chapel. This week's leader will be Robert A. Douglas while Rev. Charles M. Pratt, pastor of the Williamsburg Presbyterian Church, has consented to be the guest speaker.

3400 High School Students Here

The combined action of the Cheerleaders, the Alumni Office and the Student Government Associations of the College will produce the most elaborate Homecoming Day "pep" program seen at William and Mary. This group have completed arrangements for the Thursday night rally and for an organized display at the football game on Saturday.

The rally will begin at 10:00 Thursday night and promises to be one of the best. The bonfire is going to be the biggest ever assembled and there will be plenty of torches. Also, there will be a fireworks display following some group (or mass) singing.

Work on a platform to hold the cheerleaders and the main speaker, Mr. Ashton Dovell, has begun. An amplifying system is also being set up. After the meeting on the practice football field there will be a snake dance led by the band mounted on a flat truck.

At Saturday's game the freshmen, assisted by some of the sophomore class, will put on a card-figure. These formations are being worked out by Larry Petit and Gervais Wallace, who ask that the notices in the adjacent column be followed out to the letter, as the success or failure depends on the cooperation they receive.

In cooperation with the Alumni, the President's Aides have launched plans for the opening formal dances to be held on November 17th and 18th with Burt Repine and his orchestra for the band and Blow Gym for the hall. Open to participation of all students organized and civic institutions of Williamsburg is a gala parade to be held the morning of the 18th at 10:30 a. m.

On Friday, there will be a featured broadcast of the dance over station WRVA from 12:00-12:30 a. m. Repine has secured an exceptional vocalist in the person of Mary Kaye who has been particularly well received at the University of Richmond dances.

It may be interesting to recall that the prize for the best float went to Phi Kappa Tau Fraternity in '38 and to Alpha Chi Omega in '37. Prizes are donated by local merchants and judged by a committee of three professors and three merchants. Parades have been an annual event since '34.

Williamsburg will be overflowing with a crowd of 3,400 high school visitors here for Homecoming Day Saturday, in addition to the hundreds of Alumni and visitors who will be here for the Homecoming events and football game with Washington and Lee. The school visitors will come from 58 high schools and preparatory schools throughout the state of Virginia.

Trips through the Restoration buildings will be a feature of the day for the young visitors. The school parties are to register at headquarters in Phi Beta Kappa Hall on their arrival and will be dispatched on tours of the buildings in the period from 9 A. M. to 1 P. M. They will see the big Homecoming Parade, at 10:30 o'clock from whatever part of the town they may be in at that time.

The school visitors are expected to fill one whole side of the stadium at the game with Washington and Lee, which is scheduled for 2:15 o'clock. Preceding the game a special program to honor the school guests will take place

All's Well That Ends Well, But Going Thru It Sure Was

Time: Midnight.
Scene: Any girls' dorm.

Did I have a good time? Wow! Just make yourself comfortable darling, and let me tell you.

When I left here at nine, you'll remember I wasn't feeling so well about the whole thing. It's a little hard on a girl's ego when a man runs all the way across the Sunken Garden to avoid her. To be perfectly honest, I'll have to attribute this date to my running ability. There was another gal lying in wait for him on the other side.

Well, I got my man all right, but he worst is yet to come. Those outfits! I've gone to some mighty unusual parties in my day, but never have I been forced to wear rompers! With legs like mine, I hope you realize that was a blow. And another thing: when I went down to meet my date, there he was standing BAREFOOT in the lobby! His hair was standing on end, his trousers were rolled up to his knees, and he was wearing the most deplorable plaid shirt—honestly, he was a mess. I almost regretted having caught him. But the party—my dear, it was a howl! You should have seen the place! It was all done up in corn-stalks and stuff, so it looked like a barn, and the costumes were so crude I didn't even recognize some of my best friends. Nobody seemed to mind looking foolish, so I immediately felt a little better about my rompers.

Everybody entered into the spirit of the occasion, and I really mean we cut loose! We tried everything, including the Paul Jones and the square dance. I say 'tried' because the square dance turned out to be the Big Apple finally. And speaking of apples, we had some of those too, for refreshments. I'm telling you, we had everything!

"Slim" Templeton and "Buster" Ramsay, who certainly made elegant hill-billies, were stalking around to lend atmosphere. They amused the crowd by leading the square dances, and bouncing apples off people's heads. This last sport was enjoyed by everybody except those whose heads were concerned, and they of course, knew it was all in the spirit of good clean fun.

Honestly, I can't even BEGIN to describe how super it all was. I guess it just takes the fresh spirit of the Freshman Class to put over something big like that.

And as for my date—Southern gentlemen may be plenty smooth, but give me a hill-billy everytime!

Hawaiian Night

At a meeting last Thursday in Barrett Living room, the Foreign Travel Club held Hawaiian Night. The strains of Hawaiian music welcomed the forty people who came to hear about the Islands.

All the students on the program had visited or lived in the Islands. First to speak was Mary Summerfield who told a little about the history of the Islands and their geography.

Peggy West, who lives on the island of Hawaii told about her personal experiences during the 1926 volcano eruption. She also told some interesting legends including stories of Madame Pali, the goddess of fire.

Gary Paskins told about his recent trip to the Islands and the places he visited that are of interest including Waikiki the Pali.

Peggy Longley who lives in the Islands told about the food and products. Both she and Peggy Feldwisch wore native costumes.

Pobby Feldwisch told about the modes of dress and the climate. She recounted the origin of the hula and danced the hula.

Injured Indians Face Improved W & L Generals

THIS WEEK

By FRANK RAFLIO

In spite of the possibility that we, too, might be labeled a young college kid who wants his name in the paper, we think that something ought to be said over the current argument between Sonny Heartwell of the Washington and Lee Ring Tum Phi and the Richmond City Sports Editors. It seems that Sonny felt his team was being done an injustice by the Dispatch and the News Leader in that the name and fame of the Generals was not spread over their sheets. He further charged that there would have been little room to write about his—or anybody else's team—for that matter, as the great Richmond Spiders took all the space.

In answer to this charge the right honorable editors, Durden and Oliver defended themselves emphatically by pointing out, in the first place, that W. & L. was getting her share of the glory and, secondly, that Richmond was a good team and since they were the home club were at least in line for their share of space. Thus, the charges and counter charges have been flying back and forth during the week with supporters on both sides.

When we heard the story the first time, we naturally gave three cheers for Sonny and wondered why we hadn't come out with something like that. But in all justice to the Editors we have been forced to give way from that position just a little.

FAIRLY EVEN

A survey of the sports pages of the News Leader from the first of October up to the present date failed to show the great inequalities which we felt sure were there. One must consider that the Spiders are on the road to a state championship and as such a team are entitled to at least as much space as any other team in the state. In addition to which, they are the home team, so that we should expect a certain amount of partisanship their way.

Sonny was not altogether wrong in his criticism, however. We discovered bits here and there which might easily be used to justify his accusation. First of all as to one's knowing whereof he speaks. We noticed a story in the News Leader about Lenz the speedy Guilford back who starred here against the Indians. While giving the fleet one all the credit he deserved the story went on to call him the fastest back in THE SOUTH and a man capable of running the 100 in ten flat IN FULL FOOTBALL UNIFORM. Now Mr. Oliver is that over doing it just a little bit? We must hasten to point out that such cases were few and hardly warrant a major criticism; they only go to show that we are all human and that none is infallible.

JONES SICK

On the Richmond question itself, there were also a few points. The most notable one being the great build up for Art, The Great, Jones. During the current season the Great One contracted a slight cold which necessitated his picture being on the sports page with the "cold" clearly in view. All was weeping and sorrow. But then, a few days later, the nasty cold was gone and once more we saw the Great One's picture on the page, but his time he was booting one of those unmatchable punts, and was minus his cold.

As far as William and Mary goes we have no kick. Our coaching staff has been pessimistic and rightly so. We have received our share of publicity in the paper for a fair team and we'll wait a couple of years before criticizing from our end.

The one thing on which we did notice the greatest amount of stress was the Southern and Virginia football in general. Our state teams have been given every break and we are all for such a policy, for Virginia football has come a long way in the past three years and it is destined to take even a greater jump in the next three.

In our survey we did not go over to the Dispatch, but we feel confident that the plaudits and criticisms apply equally as well to both. Our advice, if it is wanted, is brief.

To the editors: Be as fair as you have been in the past, cut out some of the little incidents about your great ones, and be just a little tolerant of criticism. It may not ways be just, but it is a good thing to think about. . . . Or can man really run the hundred in ten flat in full uniform, and if he can, why shouldn't he be heralded as a greater track man than a football player, which he certainly would be. That is all.

Brown & West Barrett Lead In Hockey Finals

The Women's Intramural Hockey Tournament is to be completed this week. With several games still to be played it is hazardous to prophesy the victorious team, but if Brown and West Barrett continue as they have been doing there should be some close games toward the end of the tournament. To date, Brown has won three out of three games played, and West

Barrett has won both of her matches.

One of the most interesting games played up to now was that between West Barrett and Jefferson, won by the former 3-1. Jefferson was the winning team in last year's tournament, but it looks as though her crown may be taken away.

Local Poll Shows W & L to Be Popular Choice in Big Contest

By BILL HOWARD

With all the controversy that has arisen over the outcome of the Washington and Lee-William and Mary game, Saturday, this writer decided to ask some of the residents what their forecasts might be.

The fact that the questions were asked in Williamsburg has in no way affected the replies, W. & L. receiving almost as much support as the Indians, as the following interviews will testify:

John Stewart Bryan, President:

There have been lots of Homecomings before this one but this is the first that 3500 high school students have attended, with 1500 turned away for lack of roof. The Williamsburg Restoration has cooperated with William and Mary, and William and Mary has cooperated with the Restoration. It is hoped that in the future Homecoming games hat the schools not attending this year will be able to visit William and Mary at that time. As for the game I hope that our great team will get the breaks they deserve and win.

P. M. McDowell, of the College Pharmacy:

W&M by a 7-6 score. Carl M. Voyles, head football coach:

It's Homecoming and I know the boys will try hard and I expect a good game. But the loss of Simpson, who was our leader, is a hard blow and with Hollingsworth and Masters uncertain of playing due to injuries, the backfield is the question mark.

Boisseau is too much for William and Mary. I pick Washington and Lee, 6 to 0, but hope for an Indian win.

J. M. Pitman, engineer, power plant.

Danny McKay and Bert Parr, of the Matthew Whaley School differ in their selections with the former picking W&L by a 13-6 margin; and Parr choosing the Braves to win, 7-0.

Team Has Shown Steady Improvement Throughout the Season

Coach Carl Voyles' injury-ridden grid squad will face one of their most powerful opponents of the current season when they meet Washington and Lee, before an estimated Homecoming crowd of 10,000 in the William and Mary Stadium, Saturday.

The Generals, underdogs in many of their contests this fall have shown surprising strength in winning over V. P. L., tying Richmond, and holding Virginia to a seven point win, while defeating Sewanee, Southwestern, and West Virginia; losing but to Washington University of St. Louis.

Last week's Virginia game cannot help but bring to mind the stinging defeat that the Cavaliers handed W. & M. in Norfolk three weeks ago, and according to the press representatives who witnessed the game, W. & L. outplayed Virginia throughout.

There will be some advantage for the Braves, as the Homecoming visitors should add to their incentive to win, and Voyles' men have been pointing for this tilt; a victory boosting the Indian stock no end. Regardless of the outcome, the Indians have shown in every game to date that they will not be outfought, and will therefore present a constant threat to Coach Tex Tilson's outfit.

HAVE HEAVY LINE

Led by Captain Dick Boisseau, Steve Hanasik, Jim Lindsay, and Duke Waddington, the Generals' heavy line stopped all the tVirginia had to offer, with Boisseau standing head and shoulders above every man on the field, in defensive play.

Another factor which has aided the Tilson men all fall has been the superb kicking of Brown and Dan Justice. Averaging over forty yards from the line of scrimmage in nearly every game, these two punters have developed amazing ability as spot kickers, dropping

Yellow Jackets Score But W-M Turns On Power To Win, Then Take It Easy

Absence of Simpson Pointed to As Reason For Lack of Drive

In the sloppiest display of football put on in Williamsburg in many a moon the Indian gridders messed their way to a 19-6 victory over a decidedly weaker Yellow Jacket team from Randolph-Macon. After the game was over and the faint yells of the cheering section (what there was of it) had died down, the barren stadium was a prime example of the game itself. There were a few minor thrills and big chill and that was all. Otherwise the game was barren of anything but poor, pre-Voyles football.

Specifically, the Indians looked like scarecrows on the defense as the game opened. Randolph-Macon with a lightning-like attack took the kick-off and in five plays had scored on the impotent defense of the dourb-founded William and Mary team. The whole left side of the team was noticeably weak.

Song Contest November 30th

The next event on the Women's Intramural program will be the song contest, to be held November 30 in Phi Beta Kappa Hall at 7:30 P. M. Much originality was shown in last year's contest, won by the Pi Phi sorority and Brown Hall. Originality in the words of the song will again be the basis from which the judges will draw their decisions. Rules will be similar to those laid down last year. A group of faculty members will be asked to judge the contest.

Varsity Takes 5th; Frosh Cop 1st In State Meet

Running in its second meet of the year, the State Meet, the varsity harriers came in a very poor fifth. 114 points were scored up against the team as compared with Virginia 36, V. M. I. 63, W. and L. 73, Richmond 88, and V. P. I. 118. In winning them eed the Cavaliers retained the title they won last year.

Individual honors went to Mike Crocker of Washington and Lee who won the four mile race in the very fast time of 21 minutes 12.5 seconds. Cason, finishing in 12th position was the first Indian to cross the line. Captain Alley finished close behind him in fourteenth place.

Frosh Out For Revenge On Baby Spiders, Friday

Next Friday in the Spider's web (so to speak), a game will be played that may well be an indication of what the Spider-Indian rivalry is to be for the next few years. As is usual with freshman teams there is not much information given out from the University of Richmond office about the prospects of their team. So, all we can do is to look at the facts as gathered from here and there.

From their scores with other State frosh teams the baby Spiders are an impotent team on the offense but a team loaded with defensive strength. They hold a record that is not as impressive as our own baby Indians, but, in a Richmond-William and Mary game anything can (and does) happen. Two years ago the Richmond frosh thought they had a walkaway game in their hands as they scored 19 points in a little over five minutes. However, the Papooses of that year put on one of the gamiest rallies that is recorded in William and Mary history to take the ball game with two touchdowns in the last five minutes by a score of 24-19.

The Girls Are Fighting

Because it is the policy of the Flat Hat to present both sides of a story, it seems fitting to point out a few points in favor of the existing social rules to show that they are not as black as they are painted. In the first place the rules were not made because it was felt that there had to be restrictions, so "boys, this is them". They were made because the past had shown that they were necessary. The riding rule was made because the College had a very serious accident concerning some students coming back from a game at Richmond. Other similar accidents could cost the college much in suits, and much in reputation—the sacrifice of life was not deemed worthy of the sacrifice of a good time and the "rah-rah" college stuff. And if such a rule was going to be made, it had to be strict in order to be enforced.

At the time this issue goes to press the open forum discussion concerning the rules is taking place, but it is a safe prediction that when that forum occurs, there will be a very heated discussion. The purpose of the forum will be stated in advance: to give the women students a chance to express their desire for changes in the rules. If these changes are good changes, they will be carefully considered; if they are not, the Judicial Council will try to point out why they are not, and the reasons for their impossibility. It is hoped that the students will view the forum in a co-operative way, rather than from a standpoint of grudge-bearing.

Happy Homecoming

Homecoming weekend is one of the best week-ends of the College year. All our old friends return to the campus and in itself is enough to make us enjoy the week-end tremendously. The Flat Hat wants to welcome the old grads this year and to thank them for coming back to visit us.

There are other features of this week-end which might be mentioned as contributions to a happy time. There's the parade which is always full of clever and amusing floats. There's the football game with about the most spirited crowd seen at any game of the season.

The Homecoming dances are one of the big social events of the season and then there's the Saturday without classes, too, when you come right down to it.

But the best thing of all is the return of the natives. They bring a holiday atmosphere with them that is like nothing else. All the functions of the week-end and the private parties have more zest and spirit with them present. So give them a good welcome, students, because they give out a lot of fun for us still in college.

Flat Hat No Reflector

The Flat Hat is convinced that if it is able to initiate appealing activities they will be picked up by the student reading body and turned into either a lot of fun or a real-worth while movement. Sadie Hawkins Day turned into a lot of fun, perhaps the Flat Hat can click again—possibly on a vital issue.

One point the Flat Hat would like to make clear: it is not in the business of "reflecting" student opinion. Some schools of thought on the matter believe that this should be the function of a college paper. The Flat Hat intends to editorialize on what it believes to be right, what is ethical, what is best to do in the present situation, what is necessary to correct an evil. Then, it wants you to think it over. Finally, what are you going to do about it? Its policies are necessarily determined by a small group. They are liable, as are the rest of the inhabitants of the globe, to make mistakes; but how many mistakes are made by blind, un-led and unheeding public opinion?

... how's about it

Mostly our concern for the future has been limited to the results of mid-term examination marks, next Saturday's football score, and what girl would accept our invitation to the Homecoming weekend. Our ignorance of things to come is boundless. Those few of us who did hazard a peep into the future beyond this pleasant campus life have usually returned to the present entirely confused as to our probable peculiar directions in the course of human events.

We write these Monday morning reflections of the future after an immediate past that has been unusually significant for us in this respect. It all began, we think, with the lecture in Phi Beta Kappa Hall last Friday. Weldon Hoot, a scholarly gentleman from Pennsylvania gave us his worthy comments on what promise we might expect in a world of "isms". We left the Hall rather puzzled about this promise of a future and the terror of the "isms" did not strike very deep in our wondering hearts. Whatever worry we might have had for tomorrow was lost in the clicking of several co-eds' needles who could knit one and purr two while Europe ever so figuratively burned in the speakers' words. The heads may roll in Berlin but we have sweaters to finish in Williamsburg.

On Saturday a congressman had more to say of the way of this world, its sad past, its sadder present, and its same future which it seemed had much to do with such young folks as ourselves. The words, the flag waving, the band playing we had all heard before. We had that strange sense, so common to us all, of identical events occurring in a very hazy past. There was little comfort of a golden promise for our future here. We remembered the Boy Scout billboard of not so long ago with the happy message, "America's Future Lies In Its Youth". Yes, but where does the Youth lie in this pretty future. On what battlefield and for what purpose?

Again on Sunday, this time a man of God, told more of this future, its promise and its meaning. But from all this talk of the world and where it is going, our greatest satisfaction came from the knitting needles in Phi Beta Kappa. Let the idiots spin our their meaningless tale of sound and fury in Europe. Any peace and security we may know in the future will come from tending to our own knitting and forgetting the international weavers whose tapestry contains too many red threads, too many fine blood red threads.

Letters

The idea of having a party line between three of the girl's dorms is certainly a brilliant one. Last year it used to take about five minutes to get through if one of the phones was busy. This year it may take anywhere from fifteen minutes to an hour and that's no exaggeration. I know. I don't know what the exact reason for such a system is but I do know that the system results in the worst possible service.

There are approximately 400 girls in Jefferson, Barrett and Chandler and one party phone is certainly not adequate to handle the demand for service for so many. Somebody ought to get a hunch.
 John Thomas, '40.

Those two fellows who write that William and Mary Go Round should lay off their continual griping about the lack of school spirit. There's a lot more spirit here this year than there was last year or the year before. Those two would-be columnists show an appalling lack of originality when all they can do is criticize things and activities. Honest criticism is well when it appears but just plain tearing down and derision is small and can be done by anyone. To coin a cliché, usually the people who do the most beefing are the ones who never do anything to improve the matter.

Plenty of people around here are doing plenty of work to foster spirit. The cheerleaders, particularly Larry Pettit and Gervais Wallace, are certainly doing all that could be asked of anyone. The people who have been put in charge of the various social functions, also have pepped things up considerably.

Signed,
 Louise Peters, '43.

There is such a big week-end coming up that youse people just can't want to know any dirt. You know very well that all that you are thinking of is what you are going to do and how you are going to do it over Homecoming. You don't want to hear what happened at the Sadie Hawkins Dance—everybody was there anyway. You certainly couldn't have missed Bus Ramsey, Bob Templeton and Bill Murphy.

Come to think of it this is the first big dance that the fellers get a chance to invite the ladies to. There have been two formal dances so far and both have been co-eds. This situation is going to put a lot of people in a great big spot. Of course there is one possible "out". Take one Friday and one Saturday—Sunday, go to church!

Just wait until you Green-horns see these Alums in action—they really trample you to death in that Gym. Burt Repine is going to be plenty hot; we're calling him to go over with a bang—come early to avoid the push.

Guess who just blew into town? None other than Bill Greene, last year's editor of Ye Olde Flat Hat. All last year he pulled his name out of this column, but we have him now. He certainly is growing out. We will have more reports on him and everyone else next Tuesday. Take it easel . . .

STAB IN THE BACK

... What's Up

By Carl Muecke

The parallel of recent events to the time just preceding the last world war is very ominous. We are drifting into war in this country just as surely as we did in 1916, if the present trend continues. We see now for example, that the "Neutrality" bill just passed is neutral in name only. Our industrialists and ship owners have readily found loopholes by registering their ships under the flags of other countries, and with the blessing of the government, have placed our entire merchant marine at the service of the Allies. The profiteers of the last war are with us again.

WAR PROFITS

What does it matter to them that this unneutral course will create a shot-in-the-arm war boom leading to a more serious relapse, build up our industries to supply the war machines and thus risk our eventual involvement create incidents—ship sinkings and searchings—which will endanger our peace. There remains only the drive for war profits, even though at the moment pickings are disappointingly meagre because of the self-sufficient economy that most countries have set up. The profiteers are looking ahead in the future, when they hope the war will pick up. They may even take the desperate step of influencing our direct participation in the war if trade does not increase, and thus make sure of their profits.

REALIGNMENT

It seems as if the administration is also streamlining itself to fit into the war situation, by cold-shouldering most of the liberal groups and movements, in encouraging the Dies committee "witch hunt", and by cooperating with big business on a scale dangerous to the interests of the majority of the people. The word is going the rounds that the New Deal is out. The President now is going conservative, yielding to the pressure of Wall Street, and is kicking out the Cohen-Cocoran group, and putting out the welcome mat for big business. Public spending on WPA and PWA will be supplanted by large scale expenditures for armaments. Further ventures toward government ownership will be stopped, and all ideas of reform killed. Labor will be ignored as far as politically safe.

In other words our government will be groomed to make the most capital out of the war.

... William-and-Mary-Go-Round

We have been subject to attacks on two fronts over what has appeared in this column. First, we were censured for the lack of anything meaty in it, and second for the criticism it contained recently. We reiterate what we have previously written but add that there was nothing personal or vindictive intended. We meant to condemn and will continue to condemn the apathy shown in affairs, social and intellectual (particularly the latter) on this campus. We believe that an organization should be formed, such as the American Students Union, to deal with political affairs that affect us as young men and women and not just as students. We believe that an organization should be formed that would be a strong representative body for the student opinion on campus and not the hollow mockery it is today. Movements like this cannot be brought about, unless, as we have already mentioned and wish to emphasize, the lethargy which has been paralyzing our mental activities is broken.

As an example of the above we quote the Dartmouth "Jack o' Lantern":

"Hullo, Pete."
 "Hullo, Joe."
 "What ya know?"
 "Nothin'. Place is dead. No spirit. Nobody ever does anything."
 "They don't know what college spirit is. Ever see the few guys at chapel?"
 "Nope . . . don't go much."
 "Me neither."
 "Whatsa use? No college spirit in it."
 "Nothin'. Place is dead."
 "S'long, boy."

ping the ball out of bounds inside their opponents ten yard line consistently.

On the receiving end of the punts Jumping Joe Bangher rarely fails to run them back less than ten yards, receiving some excellent blocking from Brown and Pinck, in their halfback positions.

PLENTY OF RESERVES

Tilson also has a strong reserve squad which he seems to use at will. This is something that the Indians now lack, with the loss of Ben Simpson who sustained a broken leg in practice last week. Howard Hollingsworth, Clyde Ramsey, Carter Holbrook and Jim Hickey for Saturday's contest.

All coaches recognize blocking as a necessity if a team is to win; the Generals have a wealth of blocking ability both on the scrimmage line and down field.

The situation should not be painted too dark, however, for the scrappy Braves showed a lot of scoring power in their game with Randolph-Macon, and if any team is going to demote the Generals this year we'll take W&M.

According to Alumni Director McCurdy all former football players of the college have been invited as guests of the school to sit together at the game. Nash "Red" Lindsay, '32, has signified his intention of coming from Helena, Montana, with other affirmative replies received from sources in various other points in the country.

INDIANS RALLY

However, the Indians quickly gathered themselves together and put on a grand rally that was to last for about twelve minutes and win the game for them. The rally was sparked by two long runs by Matthews and a short buck by Howard. When those fifteen minutes were over the Indians fell back to a complete standstill. Their playing was dull and lacked any punch.

Right from the beginning it was very evident that the excellent quarterbacking and blocking of the injured Ben Simpson was missing. The fire which he instilled in the team as its leader on the field was gone.

In the third quarter the Indians found out that it doesn't pay to try to get away with things behind the referee's back. Time after time the Indians were penalized for holding or clipping. And, in spite of repeated warnings, they kept up their illegal play. Some of the players still do not realize that when one makes a foul exactly ten other players have to suffer the consequences.

In the final analysis and point standing William and Mary was the victor. They may have learned a lot of things by their mistakes and, if they have, they are much better off than could be reasonably assumed.

FROSH WIN

The freshman team proved their superiority over the other "Big Six" frosh by walking away with their meet. Thomas took the race in 17 minutes and 27 seconds, the fastest time run this year for his freshman three mile event.

Lugar and Sanders finished in the third and fourth places, Couch took tenth, and Harding came across eighteenth to complete the placings for the team. The boys totaled 36 points in winning the meet. Their nearest rival was V. P. I. with 49, followed by V. M. I. 66, W. and L. 71, and Virginia 120. The frosh looked exceptionally good in winning the meet and should have no trouble going through the rest of the season with a clean record. They should give this year's weak varsity a much needed boost next year, doing fairly well against stiffer varsity competition.

A dual meet is scheduled with Richmond for Tuesday, here. The Richmond varsity placed just ahead of the Indians in the State Meet. Richmond's Frosh team didn't run in the meet at Charlottesville.

likely to pull a lot of tricks out of the bag for their traditional foe. It will be interesting, to say the least to watch the Papoose eleven go to work against a strong defensive team that has already proven its worth.

The young Spiders have a backfield star, Driscoll, who is regarded in Richmond as a second Arthur Jones. He is a hard back to stop and runs with plenty of drive. Whether he can get away from the charging forward wall of the Papooses is still unanswered. However, when all things are considered, the LITTLE Indians from Williamsburg are in a spot to avenge last year's defeat at the hands of Richmond. The bigger score the better for revenge.

The Papooses are ready for this game.

That they will return with the Spider's scalp is a foregone conclusion to some, but the game is yet to be played and anything can happen in a football game.

FAR EAST

Even in the Far East the situation is cynically viewed as one in which we can make profits. Business men are discussing the favorable trade situation there. The trade treaty the U. S. has with Japan will expire on January 26, and Japan will have to renew trade relations or suffer severe economic consequences. Then Russia has intensified her assistance to China, and Japan needs the cooperation of other like minded nations to help her win the war and fight Russia, now that Germany has deserted her. This is considered as all very fortunate by the profiteers, as now Japan will have to agree on a division of the spoils in China with the United States monopolists, who would like to take the part of Britain in the Far East), and conclude trade treaties which will redound to the advantage of U. S. business. All this at the expense of the Chinese people. Instead of

CIVIL LIBERTIES

Civil liberties are being more boldly assaulted, as for example the Dies committee gains in influence. The concentration of its attacks upon the government employees who are members of a peace organization and upon the communists is dangerously similar to attacks usually made upon minority groups whenever a drive is made toward participation in a war and the establishment of a dictatorship. A drive against labor is also hinted at, which will gain momentum as soon as the elections are over with, and which will be an attempt to destroy trade unions, lower wages, increase speed-ups, and in general emasculate labor. The present breaking up of the National Labor Relations Board is the first step in this direction.

FIGHT FOR PEACE

Liberals and conservatives of every degree have become preponderantly pro-Ally to the extent almost of pushing us into war. The liberals seem to look upon Chamberlain and Daladier, and the masses behind them, as the new crusaders for democracy, forgetting that these men will see to it that what replaces Hitler will only be a regime more responsive to their will, and certainly not one generous to the German people. Just as at the end of the last war, when the rulers in each country ignored the people's belief that the war was fought for "democracy", and settled if for their own predatory, selfish interests. The conservatives, not so naive, know which side their bread is buttered on and support Chamberlain and Daladier only for what they can get out of it, and are adopting anti-fascist sentiments to serve as an ideological base of mass support for war. We young people, however, who fight the wars, feel instinctively that we should not follow any groups leading us into war, no matter what slogans they use. We feel that we should do everything within our power to keep the United States out of war and bring peace into the world.

FLICKER FLASHES

If you like comedy utterly devoid of subtleties or if you are a Joe E. Brown fan then you will get a dollar's worth of fun out of BEWARE SPOOKS!

This is a prize package of guffaws, specializing in slapstick and hokum at their very broadest. Cavern-mouth Joe is seen as a bungling cop who trails a suspect to the "Spook House", a carnival concession. Here he and Mary Carlisle make things lively indeed.

Of especially interest is the novelty "Petra", on the same bill.

Scene from a great picture, "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington", which will show here three days, Nov. 20, 21, 22.

This is the newest of the World Window series, made in amazingly beautiful technicolor with the unusual composition technique that has made this series a stand-out in the shorts field.

Mrs. Chips comes back to town on Thursday and Friday in a comedy role, and with a new man. The picture is REMEMBER, and the stars are Greer Garson, Robert Taylor, Lew Ayres, Billie Burke, Reginald Owen, George Barbier, Laura Hope Crews, and Henry Travers.

For merry, madcap farce REMEMBER? is ideal screenfare for sophisticated adults, but it won't mean much to the juveniles. Norman Z. McLeod, of "Topper" renown, wrote the screen play and directed the picture in his usual crisp, exciting manner.

Two shorts, "Naughty Neighbors", Porky Pig cartoon; and "Romance in Color", a subject of especial interest to Fine Arts students since it deals with the greater romantic paintings, decorate the program.

ETERNALLY YOURS is both corny and very smart; spicy and quite homey; garnished for the chewing gum trade and streamlined for Park Avenue!

In other words, the Saturday attraction is a romantic comedy of a velocity that should certainly find favor with both mass and class! David Niven and Loretta Young form an ingratiating team that makes ETERNALLY YOURS socko entertainment. The supporting cast (Hugh Herbert, Zasu Pitts, Billie Burke, C. Aubrey Smith, Broderick Crawford) could hardly be better.

You'd better plan to leave the football game early, or else be a firstcomer to the evening performance, or you may miss one of the brightest pictures of the year. Incidentally the second matinee features goes on about 4:30, which should find the football game ended.

Monday-Tuesday-Wednesday is the playing time reserved next week to accommodate Frank Capra's new masterpiece—MR. SMITH GOES TO WASHINGTON.

So much has already been said about this topspot flicker, that hardly need repeat it here. However, from the playdate alone we gather that it must be on of the biggest of the entertainment industry.

Jimmy Stewart and Jean Arthur are starred and are backed by a large and impressive supporting cast. (Rains, Arnold, Kibbee, Mitchell, Pallette, etc.) Richly endowed with production values the timeliness of the subject matter adds extra interest to the film.

The story treats with the single-handed and successful battle in the U. S. Senate of a young idealist. It is done in the usual Capra style of comedy-drama, and reflects sufficient of the famed Capra touch to put it head-and-shoulders above all competition.

DIDCHAKNOW — the Laughton's newest "nastie" JAMAICA RUM will be offered by the local shadow parlor as the Thanksgiving Day treat? This presents another problem for the students who plan to see the W. M.-U. of R. game, but its okay by the students who can't afford the trip, and have to stay home.

DRUMS ALONG THE MOHAWK is getting quite an ovation all over the country. Opening only this week it has scored to new box-office heights and is making Darryl Zanuck happy all over. It opens here November 27th, and might even play three days.

lar events on the Intramural program. The date for the dormileagues were combined, three records were broken. Margaret Richards of Gamma Phi Beta beat her own racing back-stroke record swimming the 40 yards in 28.7. Mary Henderson of Brown clocked 34.0 in the breast stroke, and Brown's relay team were timed at 49.8. With several swimmers back again this year, some fast performances were probably turned in.

The teams competed in the 40-yard free style, 40-yard breast stroke, 40-yard racing back, 80-yard relay, and diving.

Policeman W. H. Kelly of the Williamsburg police force takes W&M 6-0, as the Indians "are on their home grounds and should be inspired by the Homecoming spectators."

*William and Mary. I just have a feeling they'll win this one. Bill Elliott, College Service Station. Washington and Lee in a close one. R. S. Brooks, Post Office, Williamsburg.

The Indians have the psychological advantage with a large homecoming crowd in the stands, but being W&L's last game, it should be a close one, with the locals on the winning end of a 7 to 0 score. Charles Chandler, Bursar's office.

*Behind the soda fountain at the College Shop, C. S. Smith said that he expected a 7-2 victory for the Generals.

We'll win by two touchdowns, although I lay no claim to fame as a sports prognosticator. Harold Dinges, Chemistry Department.

This will be the year's best ball game, with W & M winning, 8-0 states James Henry Smith, who added that he was the best shoe shiner in town.

The William and Mary backs are too good for the visitors. I think we will win by at least 15 to 6. Marane Jackson, pot-washer dining hall.

There's No Great Mystery about Cigarette Tobaccos

THERE ARE FOUR TYPES of tobaccos found in the more popular cigarettes, namely...Bright, Maryland,
Burley and Turkish.

ALL THESE TOBACCOS except Turkish (which is bought direct from the planters in Turkey and Greece) and Maryland (which is bought through sealed bids under government supervision) are bought at public auction, just like any other auction where you might have bought in a table or a chair.

AT THE AUCTION SALE the tobacco is piled in baskets weighing from about 100 to 500 pounds and each purchaser buys all of his tobaccos by competitive bidding for the particular piles he wants.

THE CHESTERFIELD BUYERS buy the best of these mild ripe tobaccos for the Chesterfield blend. And it is Chesterfield's Combination... the right amounts of Burley and Bright... just enough Maryland... and just enough Turkish—that makes the big difference between Chesterfield and other cigarettes.

IT IS BECAUSE of this combination that Chesterfields are COOLER, have a BETTER TASTE and are DEFINITELY MILDER. They are made of the world's best cigarette tobaccos. You can't buy a better cigarette.
